Abstract (Basic): US 6691138 B1

NOVELTY - The system has a configuration file management window (302) shown on the display device coupled to a computer. The configuration file management window displays the file name associated with each configuration file, the configuration parameters, and a comment screen for showing a comment associated with the selected configuration parameter-value pair.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION - The configuration parameter and their associated values are stored as configuration parameter-value pairs in each of the configuration files. The computer has disks in which the configuration files are stored.

An INDEPENDENT CLAIM is included for the flexible configuration file management method.

USE - For managing configuration files and configuration parameters.

ADVANTAGE - Provides a user interface for management configuration parameters in configuration files. Manages configuration files in multiple directories. Provides tools for manipulating configuration parameters. Informs users about interdependencies between configuration parameters.

Abstract (Basic): US 20010042022 A1

NOVELTY - An on-line registration form is provided on an on-line site for registering the purchased product. The completion point representing the completion of purchase is identified during the purchase transaction. The on-line registration form is displayed subsequent to the completion for allowing a user to register.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION - INDEPENDENT CLAIMS are also included for the following:

- (a) On-line product registration retail site provision method;
- (b) Service for providing on-line retail site with point of purchase product registration

USE - For customers to register a product such as groceries, music compact disc or warranty at the point of sale.

ADVANTAGE - Allows the consumer to participate in a product or warranty registration process in a more efficient and cost effective manner and thereby increases the consumer participation within the product registration. Quickly and easily registers products purchased at on-line site and allows for more facile management of assets.

DESCRIPTION OF DRAWING(S) - The figure shows the schematic diagram of on-line product registration system.
